Sustainable Sepsis Systems

Event Speaker | Justin Glasgow MD PhD, SFHM

Justin Glasgow MD PhD, SFHM is a hospitalist at the University of Alabama at Birmingham Hospital and serves as an Associate Chief Quality Officer and Physician Advisor to the UAB Cares Sepsis Program. He trained at the University of Iowa with an MS in Industrial Engineering and a dual MD PhD completing a dissertation in epidemiology based on the evaluation of sustainable quality improvement practices in the inpatient medical setting. He completed Internal Medicine Residency at Christiana Care in Wilmington DE and then stayed at Christiana an additional three years as a hospitalist and Senior Clinical Scholar at the Value Institute. Notable initiatives while at Christiana included serving as the physician lead for the development of an early warning system to detect and trigger responses to signs of patient deterioration outside of an ICU and serving as a participant in several Sepsis initiatives. At UAB, he initially served as the Hospital Medicine Quality Director but has been the ACQO and Physician Advisor for sepsis since October 2019. He also served as a Vizient Subject Matter Expert for the 2021 Vizient Sepsis Early Recognition Collaborative.
